EVENT FORMAT AT THE CLUBStroke

Individual game played where the ball is played out into the cup on every hole and the total stroke score is tallied up less the player's handicap

Stableford

Handicap game where points are allocated against each score on a hole and tallied up at the end. Simply add the par and your handicap of hole together. If your shots equal this then you have scored 2 points. For each shot less / more an extra point is added or subtracted

Par

This style of game simply allows for the player to win, lose, or half the hole. To calculate scoring simply add the par of the hole & your handicap for that hole together, If you strokes equal this then you have halved the hole. If less you win the hole, if more then the hole is lost

Foursomes

Two Players play as a team and use one ball. The partners tee off alternatively from the tee and thereafter alternatively during the play at each hole. Half combined handicap applies

Ambrose (3's or 4's)

All players tee off with their own ball, then select the best ball, the other players drop a ball within 1 club length of the chosen ball and all play their next shot. This procedure is repeated until the ball is holed out

WEBSITE

On Thursday 20th September 2007, Berwick Montuna launched its revamped website to provide an improved avenue to communicate its services to members and visitors.

The website has 8 main headings; the club, course, members, location, greenfees, facilities, golf shop, and contacts. The members section will be of great assistance as it provides useful information on happenings at the club combined with links to all keen the golfer's favourite websites.

To view our website go to www.berwickmontuna.com.au
